

Does your ministry rest on human wisdom or on God's power?

Do you feel like the Apostle Paul when he arrived at Corinth - beat up by the mission?

At Corinth, Paul resolved to rely not on wise and persuasive words but on a demonstration of the Spirit's power. He wanted to explain spiritual realities with Spirit-taught words. The Spirit searches all things, even the deep things of God.

- So, how do we as church leaders, church boards, sessions hear from the Holy Spirit?
- How do we make coherent decisions based on what we have heard?
- How is the person and work of the Holy Spirit taught from a Reformed Perspective?
- How do we as leaders get healed from the wounds we have received in our service to our congregations?
- How can we as leaders find rest and restoration for ministry?
- How do we identify and engage the spiritual gifts given to our leaders?

Testimonies

"Growing the Church in the Power of the Spirit" was for me a paradigm shift. For years I have been trying to run the church and make "it" happen. It requires trust and love to let the Holy Spirit run the church. I found the teaching to be sensible, charismatic and Biblical.

Pastor Bill Tuininga, Centrepointe Community Christian Reformed Church Edmonton, Alberta

The four leaders who attended the GTC conference with me in Nov. 2013 had a rich experience of God and each are seeking fresh ways to allow the Holy Spirit to empower our local churches and bless our Heavenly Father in renewed obedience of Him.

Rev. John VanStone, Parish Priest of Trinity Anglican Parish, near Kingston Ontario

I invited our elder team from church to attend and it was a powerful experience. Many new revelations have been implemented because of what was learned at the conference. This is Biblical, practical teaching that will help grow your local church.

Joe Schlosser, Elder Village Church of Dunwoody, GA

The teaching is outstanding, and I have incorporated it into my prayer ministry. I have personally deepened my relationship with Jesus and grown in my capacity as a prayer minister.

Carol Elliot, Sammamish Presbyterian Church

Our staff and elders were profoundly impacted by reading "Growing the Church in the Power of the Holy Spirit". We highly anticipate what God has in store for us all at this conference.

Revs Rob & Lynell Caudillo Marcus Whitman Presbyterian Church Des Moines, WA.

PRMI is calling us back to nothing less than the Christian vision given by Christ Himself to step into the future God has destined for His Church.

Learn seven practical principles to stay in step with the Holy Spirit.

Grabbing onto the hottest technical trend is tempting, but God knows how He wants to work in your context. This 4 day equipping event will introduce you to the two foundations and seven dynamics of growing the Church in the power of the Holy Spirit.

The course, intended for pastors accompanied by others in their church leadership, gives participants tools so that when they return to their congregations they can implement what they have learned.

A team offering intercessory prayer, hospitality and ministry will help to make this a restful and transforming week. Join us and explore how God desires to grow your church in the power of the Holy Spirit.

Conference Description

Jesus commissioned us to go and make disciples. He sent the Holy Spirit to empower us and guide us in accomplishing this task. So the question behind all our church programs and activities is: How can leaders and churches discern and obediently cooperate with the guidance of the Holy Spirit?

At this Growing the Church conference, we will explore practical ways for leaders to hear from and cooperate with the Holy Spirit.
