FTPC Family,

In the last day we have had a shift of over 80 points in our air quality prediction for tomorrow.

One of the things that came up when we transitioned indoors earlier was the concern related to indoors being less beneficial in stopping the spread of COVID. This means that each individual is effectively balancing (at least) two different points of concern, COVID and air quality. This is particularly exacerbated by the fact that the best way of addressing air quality (closing all windows and doors in the church) is also not the best way of addressing COVID spread (ensuring good ventilation). I think that providing choices tends to be the best option where possible.

We will continue to shift with conditions as they present themselves, but our operating plan looks like we will be having worship indoors for those who are concerned about air quality. The building will have the windows and doors closed to ensure that the smoke does not fill the church.

If you attend physically and you do not want to be indoors, I will set up the speakers outside and run the audio to them. This means if you are outside, you will hear the service, but you will see God's creation in nature rather than my smiling face.

We will also continue to have the service available for streaming through Facebook and Youtube.

Any of the choices (worship indoors, worship outdoors, worship from home), is a fine choice that needs to be made in consideration of your own health and the risks associated with that. I look forward to worshipping the Lord with you tomorrow, no matter where you are located!

Thanks,
Pastor Aaron
